

CONFLICT MINERALS POLICY STATEMENT

April 2020

Tasso is a reliable business partner focused on living up to our customers' and other stakeholders' expectations. We respect human rights and supports the efforts of governments and organizations to end violence and atrocities in conflict-affected areas. Tasso is committed to sourcing raw materials and components from companies that share our values with regard to human rights, ethics and environmental responsibility.

According to the US Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act (2010), publicly traded companies in the U.S. must report to the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC") if their products contain Tin, Tantalum, Tungsten or Gold (also known as the "3TGs"). Tasso is not listed on a U.S. stock exchange and thus is not under a direct obligation to comply with SEC requirements. Nevertheless, Tasso is committed to supporting its customers and will provide reports for those of our customers who have such reporting obligations.

We can confirm that based upon currently available information Tasso does not process conflict minerals Tin (Sn), Tantalum (Ta), Tungsten (W) or Gold (Au) originating from the Democratic Republic of Congo (DRC) and surrounding countries. Any minerals found in our product that is under the category of conflict materials come from recycled or scrap sources.

Tasso requires, in good faith, that our suppliers exercise reasonable due diligence in the evaluation of their supply chains for compliance with the Dodd-Frank Act and Conflict Minerals Rule.
